

Short-term Disability

Provided by UnitedHealthcare

Help protect yourself with a weekly income if you're unable to work for a short period of time.

Do you have enough money saved up if you couldn't work for weeks – even months – because of an illness, injury or pregnancy?

Many Americans do not have enough money saved up or have any income protection to help them if they are unable to earn a paycheck. That's why a UnitedHealthcare Short-term Disability plan is such a valuable benefit.

How the plan works.

The Short-term Disability plan will pay you a 60% of your paycheck each week if you have a qualifying disability on the 1st day of injury or the 8th day of a sickness and you are unable to perform your job duties for up to a maximum of 26 weeks.

This means you will have a weekly income to help you and your family pay for expenses like your mortgage or rent, medical bills, food and more.

You can even work part-time.

Being productive feels good. That's why the plan also allows you to work part-time and still receive benefit payments. We understand that you may have to work your way back up to earning 100 percent of your income, which is the goal.

Disability specialists can help you return to work.

The plan includes personal support from disability specialists who will work with you and your employer to help you return to work more quickly so you can get back to work safely and back to earning your full wage.

Only 48% of U.S. adults feel they have enough in savings to cover 3 months of expenses if not earning an income.¹

Why UnitedHealthcare Short-term Disability?

- Income protection with weekly payments
- Personal claim support to help you through the process
- Disability specialists to help you get back to work safely

Evidence of Insurability is required unless you are completing your new hire event
