

Teammates,

I want to give you an update on our leadership structure at DAS for the next several months. Last October, I had the exciting opportunity to join the Nebraska Army National Guard as a JAG Officer. To this point, my Army duties have been limited to monthly weekend drills, but starting today, that will change when I go on active duty for training at Ft. Benning, Georgia, and Charlottesville, Virginia. I anticipate being on leave from Friday, August 5th, returning to the office on Monday, December 12th.

In my absence, Governor Ricketts has selected State Budget Administrator Lee Will to serve as Acting DAS Director. Lee will be supporting our DAS leadership team with operational decision-making and will be available for Director level decisions and escalations. I do not anticipate that this will impact our flow of business over the next several months and I am confident that our team here at DAS will continue to deliver the high level of customer service that we are known for.

Please extend to Lee your full support and let your division leader know if you have any questions or concerns.

Regards,

Jason Jackson

Director, Department of Administrative Services
