A number of you have called to tell me that the credit union accounts should be coded as savings rather than checking. When discussing this with a couple of the credit unions, myself, they told me checking as not everyone has a savings account at the facility. A few minutes ago, I received an email from the Nebraska State Employees Credit Union stating that it should be Savings as not everyone has a checking account there.

I am waving the white flag on this one and will ask you to use whatever code you have been told/asked to use by the facility involved.
