WHY INDOOR CYCLING?

Indoor Cycling appeals to all ages and levels of fitness within a non-impact, non-competitive environment. There is no complicated “choreography” and each rider is permitted to dictate how hard he/she chooses to work.

What to Expect:
The instructor will provide active and dynamic encouragement, together with technical and practical advice throughout the class. Indoor cycling also allows for competitive athletes, fitness enthusiasts and beginners to ride next to each other while obtaining their own fitness goals. Besides burning between 400-500 calories in 40 minutes, indoor cycling also strengthens the muscles of the lower body. It tones the quadriceps and hamstrings, along with working the back and hips.

Benefits of Indoor Cycling:
You need 3-5 days of cardio per week, for 30 to 60 minutes each time; this provides maximal benefits to the body including: weight loss, increased energy levels, stronger heart and lungs, decreased risk for heart disease, better sleep, as well as improved cholesterol and triglyceride levels. The benefits of indoor cycling are not limited to physical aspects; cycling workouts can do wonders for your mind, as well: relief from stress, anxiety, and symptoms of depression, increased confidence, and improved ability to visualize and focus on a goal.

Our Bikes:
Our bikes are built with a drive system that mimics outdoor cycling and a console that features direct power measurement, which actually measures the work that you do. Featuring a direct power (watts) measurement sensor, this console measures the load a rider dives into the system for an accurate, consistent reading, every time. There are strain gages (similar to what are used in a bathroom scale) embedded in the left crank arm that measure how much torque your body places on the crank. The power sensor on the crank arm converts this measurement into usable data and then wirelessly transmits that information to the console, where the rider sees a watts value. The harder the rider works, either by adding resistance or by rotating the pedals at a higher RPM, the higher his or her watts value will be. A higher watts value translates to a greater distance traveled, a faster speed, and a larger number of calories burned. Now, users can measure progress and in turn, achieve their goals faster. It’s the most dynamic training available on an indoor cycle.

Become a Participant:
All you need to join a class is to show up, bring a water bottle, a towel and be ready to work. Other equipment you might want to look at: padded bike shorts, cycling shoes with cleats and a heart rate monitor (sold at the Front Desk). Class times are listed below and on the group fitness schedule in Studio C.

WELLNESS

YOGA

Yoga is an ancient art based on a harmonizing system of development for the body, mind, and spirit. The continued practice of Yoga will lead you to a sense of peace and well-being, and also a feeling of being at one with your environment.

The practice of Yoga is a total approach to health and fitness. In addition to providing stress management through patterns of deep relaxation techniques, Yoga will provide you with:

- Increased energy
- Total body balance
- Increased strength
- Cardiovascular workout
- Better flexibility

The long term effects of Yoga are what make your practice essential to well-being. A good practice will accelerate the body’s repair processes at a cellular level and will increase your physical and mental well-being. All of the postures improve circulation and the health of the internal organs while cleansing toxins out of the body. In other words, you will feel better AND look better!

PILATES

The late Joseph Pilates devised specific training equipment and a series of 500 controlled exercises that engage both the mind and the body. These exercises focus on developing the core muscles of the abdomen and increase the endurance and flexibility of supporting muscles. The practice of Pilates creates and maintains an efficient, lean, strong, stable and agile body. The Pilates method of exercise emphasizes restoring the body to true balance, ease, and economy of movement.
